Roles & Responsibilities

Below are the key roles and responsibilities typically associated with a successful CoP.

Role	Description	Responsibilities
Champion	The Champion is the chief orga- nizer of events. The Champion may also be the administrative source for communications sup- port.	 Ensure and articulate a valid purpose behind a CoP Stimulate interest in the CoP Organize face-to-face gatherings Stimulate enthusiasm and energy Promote the cause and contributions of the CoP Arrange for communications support Obtain official support when appropriate Communicate the contributions of the CoP to the formal organization, if appropriate (i.e. an Informal CoP may choose to do this only rarely) Communicate company support to the CoP members.
Facilitator	The Facilitator focuses on com- munications between and among members of the CoP. This can be accomplished in face-to-face ses- sions or in virtual meetings, for- mally or informally. This role of- ten shifts from member to member depending upon the topic and the participants.	 Clarify communications Draw out the reticent Ensure that dissenting points of view are heard and understood Keep discussions on topic Reconcile opposing points of view

Integrator	The Information Integrator com- prises two distinct roles: (1) the position interfaces with other units of the organization, either other CoPs or business units; and (2) the position ensures clarity and lack of duplication in the information dis- seminated within the CoP and outward from it.	 Maintain information-sharing relationships with other units and CoPs Inform CoP members about relevant activities elsewhere Inform others about relevant activities within the CoP Coordinate information from CoP members to avoid duplications, redundancies, or poor quality (e.g., in postings to the CoP web site)
Member	Members are the people who po- pulate a CoP. They might hold similar official positions (e.g., purchasing agent) or they might be connected in a community by vir- tue of their mutual interest in a business process (e.g., purchas- ing).	 Share knowledge and experiences Participate in discussions and other sessions Raise issues and concerns regarding common needs and requirements Devise workarounds and other solutions to shortcomings in formally documented methods and procedures Alert other members to changes in conditions and requirements Be on the lookout for ways to enhance CoP effectiveness (i.e. recruiting high-value members; changes to interaction processes, etc.)

Role	Description	Responsibilities
Practice Leader	The Practice Leader is the ac- knowledged leader of the CoP. His or her leadership is based on competence, not rank or position. Leadership in a CoP can shift as the issues and concerns of the CoP shift. Practice Leaders always emerge; they cannot be appointed.	 Identify emerging trends and patterns in CoP activities and knowledge base Identify trends and patterns in other areas that impact the practice Promote adherence to "good practice" Articulate "good practice" for new members Provide or arrange for coaching for new members Provide leadership in resolving problems with and in the practice Evaluate CoP performance versus expectations Be alert to the potential need for CoP changes: more members; shutdown
Sponsor	The Sponsor is the bridge between a CoP and the rest of the formal organization, particularly the au- thority hierarchy.	 Facilitate the articulation of a mission for the CoP (if the degree of formality warrants one) Manage official relationships Remove barriers and obstacles to productive contributions by the CoP Run interference for the CoP when necessary Provide for funding as needed
