

Performance Management

The goal of performance management is congruence between intended and realized performance.

The only intentions that matter are those of the performer.

Only the performer can manage his or her performance.

- Targets
- Actions
- Conditions
- Goals
- Perceptions